

For Immediate Release

Provo, UT – March 12, 2010

Rocky Mountain University of Health Professions to host Open House for inaugural residential Doctor of Physical Therapy program.

Rocky Mountain University of Health Professions (RMUoHP) is pleased to announce the celebration of its inaugural residential Doctor of Physical Therapy program with an Open House to be held on Tuesday, May 11th at 4:00p.m. The event will be held on RMUoHP's Provo, Utah campus, and will include an introduction by President of RMUoHP, Dr. Richard P. Nielsen, address by Provo Mayor John Curtis, refreshments, and guided tours of the campus including the new Physical Therapy school.

RMUoHP is delighted to invite local healthcare leaders, government members, academia, the press, and any interested community members to celebrate along with our distinguished students, alumni, faculty, and staff.

About Rocky Mountain University of Health Professions:

RMUoHP offers doctoral degrees for current and future healthcare providers and educators, including athletic trainers, nurses, occupational therapists, physical therapists, exercise physiologists, and chiropractors. RMUoHP offers both non-traditional and traditional residential models. RMUoHP's non-traditional model enables students to complete advanced degrees without relocating. Curricula emphasize specialized education in advanced clinical, research, and academic areas. RMUoHP's residential Doctor of Physical Therapy (DPT) degree program begins in May 2010.

For more information on Rocky Mountain University of Health Professions, call toll free 866.780.4107, visit www.rmuohp.edu, or email info@rmuohp.edu.